EXTRACTS FROM THE WILL

"My hope is that the provision herein made will be sufficient for establishing and supporting a school of high character, where the pupils may receive a thorough education upon the most liberal and enlightened principles.

"My intention is that the school shall never be in any form or degree exclusive, either religiously or politically, but open for the admission of all whose good character and condition entitle them to share in its benefits, and of this the Trustees are to be the sole judges."

The Swain School of Design in directing its limited endowment, aims to give to its pupils a thorough knowledge of the fundamental principles and practical application of artistic design.

The courses of study offer opportunity for a systematic training in art and its application to trade and industry.

ATELIER SWAIN

THE SOCIETY OF BEAUX ARTS ARCHITECTS, NEW YORK

Nat C. Smith, Patron

Everett Green, Massier

The course is modeled on the principles of the instruction at the Ecole des Beaux Arts in Paris, and consists annually of a series of thirty-five (35) competitions and several prize competitions conducted by The Society of Beaux Arts Architects.

The Atelier class will be open to any student or draftsman who has a working knowledge of the five orders. Briefly, the method of instruction is as follows: On each third or fourth Saturday, the class will meet at 1 p. m., and printed programs will be distributed. These programs state the requirements of the problem in architectural design, from which the pupil is expected to prepare a design in sketch form without the use of documents, and finish in not over nine consecutive hours.

In the Analytique, Project and Archaeology problems, the student retains a copy of his sketch, the original being sent to New York. About six weeks is allowed in which to complete large rendered drawings, which on fixed dates are sent to the New York jury appointed by the Society. These final drawings are compared with the sketches first sent, and such solutions as show sufficient merit are awarded mentions. The drawings are then returned to the students. The Equisse-Equisse (Rendered Sketches) are judged in the same manner, but the final drawing must be completed within nine hours, no preliminary sketch being required.

The competitions are divided into two classes, A and B. A stated number of mentions must be obtained in each class to progress. The completion of Class A requirements entitles the student to the Society's Certificate in Architecture.

The only cost will be an annual charge of Two Dollars to each pupil for registration with the Society.

SWAIN SCHOOL ART CLUB

This club is a social and educational organization with a business side as well.

Among the activities are meetings with essays and readings by the students or addresses upon art topics by the instructors or others interested in art. Frequently purely social functions are included.

The club also has a shop in which art objects are placed on sale and where orders are taken for the making of art objects or for the decorations of homes, binding of books, illustrating, or any other art work which the skilled members of the club are able to do. A reasonable price is asked for all objects on sale or for the filling of commissions.

ART GALLERIES

In the Crapo galleries, drawing, paintings and designs by prominent artists, and other exhibitions, will be on view at frequent intervals during the school year, for the benefit of the students and also to interest the public. A new gallery the gift of Wm. W. Crapo and designed by Nat C. Smith is nearing completion.
